Things to consider when choosing your childbirth education program:

- We recommend that you book from 16 weeks and complete your childbirth education by 36 weeks gestation.
- The workshops are held at the Women's in Parkville on weeknights or weekends and in some community venues.
- If you come to the hospital for your childbirth education you only pay one amount of $170. This means you need to book and pay for a weeknight or a Saturday series or an all-day workshop on a weekend.
- If you attend a program at one of the community venues you book and pay one amount of $170 for 3 or 4 sessions (depending on the venue), with one of those sessions including a tour at the hospital. Make sure you select the correct venue for your postcode.

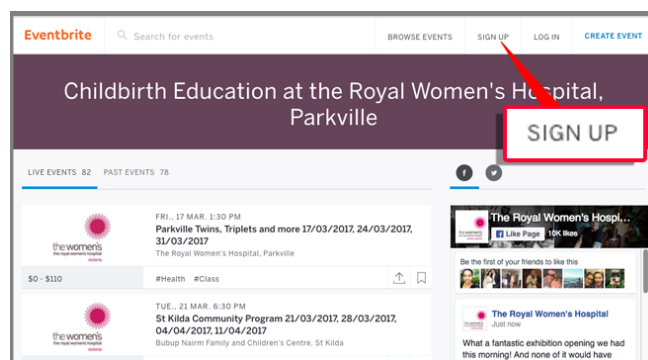

If you are not attending childbirth education, you may still book a hospital tour

Other workshops available at the hospital:

- Caring for Yourself in Pregnancy (women only) and Talking Dads (men only). These sessions are held at the same time for your convenience. Book as a bonus ticket once you have booked your childbirth education series/all-day workshop.
- A program for women expecting a multiple birth – Twins, triplets and more. This is a 3 session series that includes a hospital tour.
- Non-English speaking programs in Mandarin and Vietnamese. If you need assistance when booking, please contact us.

Booking your childbirth education workshop

1. After selecting the link to the Eventbrite website you will see a list of current workshop sessions. Browse the sessions to find the workshop topic you need.

2. Sign up to Eventbrite before you select your first workshop – this will avoid having to add your details every time you make a booking.
3. Click on the workshop session that you want to book. Select the TICKETS button.
4. On the 'Select Tickets' pop up screen shown above, set the quantity to 1, next to General or Concession. Please note that each booking includes your partner or support person – there is no need to book a second place for them.
5. Click on the CHECKOUT button.
6. Complete the Registration/Payment form.

Confirmation of your registration and program details will be emailed to you. The order number can be used to obtain a bonus ticket for other workshops (or a refund, if necessary)
